

Please do not allow the FCC rule to supercede Indiana's No Call law. Telemarketers invade people's peace and privacy. Since I signed up to be on Indiana's no call list, the telemarketing calls I received has shrunk from two or three daily to one or less average per week. Please do not supercede it with a less stringent requirement. Please leave Indiana's No Call list as is and allow it to supercede any FCC list that may be created. We need even less telemarketing than ever before. Please leave Indiana's law alone by not superceding it with a lower powered FCC national list. Thank you for listening to my remarks.
